KLICK 'N' SHIP IMPACTED BY HURRICANE IAN

Jamaica Post advises that Klick 'N' Ship Express is being adversely impacted by the effects of Hurricane Ian, a category four hurricane, which made landfall in Florida, United States of America (USA) on September 28, 2022.

While Ian was downgraded to a tropical storm on September 29, 2022, the weather system continues to surge through the sunshine state and other parts of the USA, disrupting lives, damaging properties and disabling many commercial and logistics operations. Regrettably, the inclement weather will result in some packages being delayed. Jamaica Post is monitoring the situation closely and remains in frequent communication with its international partners.

Jamaica Post apologises for any inconvenience that may be experienced. For additional information and customer service support, visit klicknshipexpress.com or email info@klicknshipexpress.com
